Gina Sosinsky
1955 - 2015

Gina Sosinsky was born on April 15, 1955, in New York City, but she finished high school in the Chicago suburbs, and received her undergraduate degree in biology from the University of Chicago. After receiving her PhD in 1983 from the University of California, Berkeley, she spent one year in postdoctoral training in electron microscopy at the Institute for Brain Research in Chicago. Later, she spent a year in postdoctoral training as part of the Program in Cell and Molecular Biology at the University of California, Los Angeles. She was also a postdoc in structural biology with Donald Caspar and David Unwin at Brandeis University. While in Boston, she was a post-doc in structural biology with Don Caspar and David Unwin at Brandeis University. While in Boston, she was a Charles A. King Trust Fellow of the Medical Research Foundation of Boston, 1987-1989.

Acknowledgements
- Picture and text from Dr. John Badger, Gina's husband.
- Additional information from the NCMIR and UCSD websites.